A Flow Affair: NYC Screening Premier Wolfgang Busch

A FLOW AFFAIR, a documentary directed by Wolfgang Busch, premiered yesterday, October 12th, in NYC. I was honored to attend the premier. The event brought back into the spotlight the art of flagging and fanning and, with that, remarkable moments which are part of the LGBT history. Therefore, it was essential for A FLOW AFFAIR to premier in NYC during the month of October—LGBT History Month. Directed by Wolfgang Busch (who also brought us the remarkable HOW DO I LOOK?), A FLOW AFFAIR is a reminder that (as mentioned in the documentary) in order to understand the future we should start by learning about the past. A FLOW AFFAIR offers a look back at the rich LGBT history, while offering a preview of its evolution during the years to come.
